We're Out—So Keep Out Yap, That Rock Mutsu and Negato—Know Them? Have you YOUR $3,000?

— By Arthur Brisbane —

Copyright, 1921

The other day you read of Italian officers directing German soldiers "shooting holes in the ranks of Poles with accurate artillery fire." Today you read of intensely bitter feeling between France and England, based on the same Silesian situation.

England wants to treat the late war as one of many and get back to business. France feels toward the Germans as our frontiersmen felt toward the Apaches, creatures without rights, to be kept down as a general measure of public safety. Lloyd George, still the wisest man in Europe's public life, is distinctly on the side of Germany against France in the Silesian disturbance, and says so.

Observe that if the United States had been fool enough to play Caesar in the League of Nations, we should now be expected to clear out on to the shooting in Silesia. Smooth over there wants the job. The French won't do it, and won't let Germany do it.

But how would Afa let the United States do it. MOST cheer fully. The more thoroughly we keep out of that mess, the better.

George W. Hillman rebukes me for calling those that speak of Yap as a mere rock to the Pacific.

Gibraltar is only a rock, to the Mediterranean. Ask England what she would take for that rock. Crete is not a huge rock, in the Mediterranean. Splendid piles of rock and fertile and only 10 miles long. But that isle of rocks, where the great Zeus was born in a cave and has his burial place on a mountain peak, means more in the world's history, by far, than all the history of North and South America combined. Editors might ask WHY in this next batch of questions. Yap, this week in the Pacific, might suddenly become to the United States as important as your telephones to you.

"Mutsu" and "Negato." Those words mean nothing to the man in the street, but a good deal to the man in the White House, to his secretary of the navy and to Congress. Mutsu and Negato are the two most powerful battleships in the world. And they belong to Japan. They were sent, built to raise the Mikado on a sailing trip, a small, not rich country. Like Japan does not invest one hundred millions in two ships almost, she expects to get the money back. WHERE and HOW do you suppose Japan expects to get back the money spent on Mutsu and Negato?

The government loan organization finds that the total wealth of the United States at $300,000,000,000, about ten times what the Allies hope to get from Germany, is less than three thousand dollars for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Have you got YOUR three thousand, and has every member of your family got three thousand? No? Then think it over, and sell your share.

It cannot be done by dividing, in spite of Russia's interesting experiment.

If it were possible to divide, which is not, each family of five would have fifteen thousand dollars. What would happen? Bliss, peace, comfort? Not exactly.

About half the families would stop all work until the money was gone. Everything in the country would be turned upside down. When the dust settled there would be a big flock of millionaires with new names, many of them Greek and Russian names. Some of New York's distinguished Knickerbocker gentlemen, descended from mushroom Dutch ancestry, would be washing dishes in cheap restaurants.

Levy Mayer and John Stanch said would have an entirely new crop of clients and our best divorce courts would see new faces. Other wise things would run along as usual.

It is only changing the people by education that makes any real difference.

The sum $300,000,000,000 — supposed to represent this country's wealth — represents, of course, only that part which is developed. There is more wealth than that under water near our coasts. There is more in the air above us. If you can get nitrogen from the air cheaply you can multiply the earth's fertility by one hundred and be richer than Rockefeller. Only the surface of the nation's wealth has been scratched. The real wealth lies untouched. Some of it is in the ground, most of it is in man's intelligence. Plenty of opportunity still for young men with no objection to thinking and working.

Harry E. Lewis, intelligent district attorney, is horrified to learn that half the children in New York's public schools know nothing of the Ten Commandments. One boy thought the Lord had told Moses "not to hitch bobbed wagons or shoot craps," and another one, a close student apparently of society news, said: "It means love thy neighbor's wife." Mr. Lewis thinks that better knowledge of the Ten Commandments would make better citizens. But would it? All the dollar-a-year patriots had read, "Thou shalt not steal."

Burglar, With Whom Young Student Fought a Savage Battle, Crawled Through Open Window of Dormitory

BATTLES ROBBER IN DARK

Student in Harvard Dormitory Winning Fight as He Is Shot Down

John B. King, 22-year-old Technology student from Washington, D.C., was shot twice by a burglar after a pitched battle early today in the dark in Drayton Hall, a Harvard College dormitory, at No. 48 Boylston street, Cambridge. He is at the Cambridge Municipal Hospital in a critical condition.

One bullet penetrated the right shoulder, and the other lodged in the right thigh.

King, who rooms with his brother Gilbert, a Harvard student, on the first floor of the dormitory, the window of which is but six or eight feet above the sidewalk, retired, leaving the window open. His brother was away.

GRAPPLES WITH INTRUDER.

He was awakened just before dawn by a noise and arose to ascertain its cause.

Hunting about the room in the darkness, he made out the form of a burly man making for the window in an attempt at escape.

King himself is of heavy build, and he quickly grappled with the burglar.

Then in the darkness followed a rough and tumble fight in which the contents of the room were turned upside down, the electric light fixtures torn from the walls and chairs smashed in King's effort to make the man a prisoner.

FIRES TWO SHOTS.

Several telling blows from King's fists had almost accomplished their purpose when the burglar pulled a gun and fired two shots in quick succession.

The first shot hit King in the right thigh. The second was fired as the burglar stood over him, struck him in the right shoulder, and took a downward course. The revolver was discharged so close to him that the hair on the right side of King's head was singed.

The burglar then made his escape by way of the open window, which he had gained entrance after

Three British Officers and a Woman Are Killed When English Are Ambushed

By International News Service.

London, May 16.—Three British officers and a woman were killed today when Sinn Feiners ambushed a motor car near Ballyturn, Ireland. This brings the week-end death list to thirty-one.

A detachment of police was ambushed while being rushed to the scene. District Inspector Mac Mahon, Captain Cretwaithe and Lieutenant Chenevix were killed outright. Lady Chenevix died later.

The ambuscade was fatal, wounded in the fighting that followed the original attack.

Of the victims of the worst week end, six were members of the British secret service, or "Intelligence" department, of which the murdered men formed a part.

Fourteen civilians were killed and seven wounded.

The Dublin correspondent of the Daily Chronicle believes that an attempt was made at Dublin to assassinate Lord Lieutenant Fitzalan, Saturday night. Shots were fired at the Viceroy's automobile but it was impossible to ascertain whether the bullets were aimed at the occupant of the car or against the escort. A second shot, which struck the car, was fired from a different direction. Fitzalan was not injured.

Dublin is under martial law and a curfew order is in force. Persons found in the streets after 10 o'clock at night are liable to be shot on sight.

Tries 45 Criminal Cases in Half Hour

Forty-five criminal cases on the Superior Criminal docket were disposed of today by Special Justice Michael H. Sullivan in the session that began at 9 o'clock and ended at half-hour. Two fines were imposed, one for $100 and the other for $50.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph A. Pigeon was the only prosecutor present, as the other assistants were engaged in the trial of Mary J. Fellows, charged with murder, in the session of the Superior Criminal Court presided over by Judge Hall G. Pierce.

The Superior Criminal Court also was busy today, Judge Lawrence Cox presiding and Louis Wilson, attended by sergeant Sweeney as bailiff. Two cases were disposed of, one of assault and battery, the other larceny. Both cases were filed in the week before.

BURGLARS LOOT DRUG STORE

Burglars entering in a fast touring car, which they permitted to run down the middle of the street in the early hours of today, broke into the drug store of Charles Gerrish, at the corner of Franklin and Milton streets, Dorchester, and made away with several hundred dollars worth of goods.

The thieves drove up to the store and stopped in the center street while one of their number broke the window with a brick, reaching in and unlocking the door. Then they entered the store, filled their pockets with the loot and made their escape.

ATTACKS REPORT ON QUITT

Fraud on Court and Public, Feeney Charges at Hearing on Police Killing

"The police report on the shooting of Louis Quitt by Policeman Steinmetzer is a deliberate fraud on the public and this court," declared Attorney John D. Feeney, representing the relatives of Quitt, at the hearing on the request for a warrant for the patrolman's arrest on a charge of murder before Judge Creed in Municipal Court today.

Attorney Feeney is asking for a warrant on a charge of murder. Inspector Inspectors of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, wants the court to issue a warrant charging manslaughter. Assistant Attorney General W. Scott is representing the accused policeman.

Steinmetzer, acting as special police officer in enforcement of the state-wide prohibition law, shot Quitt in a dispute over liquor in front of the Hall Annex on April 29.

Captain Percy C. Kneeland of the Court square station, was the only witness called to the stand after the hearing opened today. Attorney Feeney questioned him regarding the list of witnesses the police are said to have gathered in connection with the case.

It was in the course of this examination that Feeney demanded the official report of the shooting.

"It is a fraud," he said. "Because it does not contain names of witnesses who already have testified here."

Harry Stern, the first witness summoned, told of having been in the office of the Franklin Arms, at No. 3 Coburt street, and overlooking the scene of the shooting, when he heard the first shot. He ran to the window in time to see Steinmetzer walking away from Quitt and raising his revolver to fire again.

Coroner's Special Officer Joseph Mattley testified that he had been employed by a local newspaper to investigate the witnesses summoned before the hearing, and that he had talked to a man named Carroll. According to his testimony, Mattley said, Carroll received from Cahill an entirely different story from that told by Cahill at the hearing.

Mary J. Fellows, Accused of Killing Johnston, R. I., Hotel Man, Denies Guilt

Providence, May 16.—Mrs. Mary J. Fellows went on trial before Judge Hahn today, charged with the murder of her former husband, Rufus J. Fellows, well known hotel man, last January.

It is alleged by the State that she shot Fellows, from whom she had been divorced, after a quarrel in the New Sunnyside Inn, at Johnston, R. I. Fellows was proprietor of the hotel and although legally separated from him, Mrs. Fellows had been living at the inn for some time.

According to the story told by Fellows before his death in St. Joseph's Hospital, some days later, his former wife had forced her way into his room and shot him with having been too friendly with other women.

This he denied to her, the dying man said. Mrs. Fellows had shot him with his own revolver. The bullet entered his mouth and lodged in the base of the brain.

Mrs. Fellows denies having intended to kill her former husband and says that as she was entering his room, carrying a revolver she had intended to use, the weapon had been accidently discharged. She admits having quarreled with Fellows over women.

John J. Fitzgerald, the lawyer who represented Mrs. Elizabeth Moir at her trial for murder, is attorney for Mrs. Fellows.

The State is represented by Assistant Attorney-General A. A. Capotosta. The selection of a jury is expected to consume most of the day.

"On the Run" —WITH— MICHAEL COLLINS

(Commander-in-Chief of the Irish Republican Armies)

How He Fights! How He Wins! How He Is Never Caught!

By M. G. MAURY.

For the first time the career of Michael Collins, Commander-in-Chief of the Irish Army in the Field, is told to American readers. This sketch of the great Irish patriot is written from facts given to the Boston American by officials of the Irish Republic.

In Ireland they call him "The Will-o'-the-Wisp"; in England they name him "That Damned Traitor." In reality his title is Commander-in-Chief of the Irish Republican Armies in the Field, and his name is Michael Collins.

The British have found him the most elusive, most courageous, most resourceful of all their foes in Erin.

Montreal, May 16.—A mechanic's hammer, scissors and tweezers were used in the murder here today of George S. Isaacs, a furrier.

The slayer met success with $20,000 taken from the victim, whose jugular vein he had hacked open with scissors and whose skull he had broken with the hammer, but his heart set on a diamond ring worn by Isaacs. So he applied the tweezer, nearly breaking the dead man's fingers in the attempt to wrench the ring loose.

Washington, May 16.—The horse is not obsolete, either in warfare or in business.

There were more horses used per man in the European War than in the Civil War, and after attempts to supplant the cow ponies of the West with Rivers, ranchers are now calling upon the government to assist in breeding horses for work in herding live stock. These were the assertions of Major C. I. Scott, of the Inland Service Remount Service at the closing session of the American Remount Association convention.

Prominent breeders, gentlemen riders, cavalry officers and polo players from all over the country were in attendance.

Winner of 'Old Crow' Got a Rooster

Chicago, May 16. The Windy City is chuckling at the latest joke on prohibition.

Enforcement agents heard that a certain prominent society socialite had rented off a coop of fowl for the $2,000 they got busts at once. The best of their sleuths were put on the trail. For days they worked, only to return to headquarters looking sheepish. They had learned that when the winner of the raffle opened the "coop" he found an old rooster.

The rooster crowed. It is said the winner cussed.

Says Swedenborg Had Einstein's Theory

Professor Albert Einstein in his theory of relativity or space and time was anticipated by Emanuel Swedenborg by 175 years, according to the followers of Swedenborg in Boston. Rev. R. L. Hutchinson, in referring to Einstein's theory, says:

"As to the relativity of time and space, Professor Einstein was anticipated by Swedenborg by 175 years. The great Swedish scientist maintained that while events in the spiritual world seem to happen under conditions of time and space, yet time and space there are totally different from what they are here.

"He deals with this question at some length. Perhaps Professor Einstein might get some additional points from him on this subject."

Opportunity to Learn Bookbinding

Owing to the present labor trouble, opportunities are open to beginners, both MEN and WOMEN, with liberal pay at the start, to learn the various branches of the bookbinding trade.

This is an unusual opportunity to learn a well-paying trade that offers practically continuous employment under good conditions in OPEN SHOPS working forty-eight hours per week.

Employers and employes in these plants choose each other as associates on terms that are mutually satisfactory, without dictation or interference on the part of any person or organization that is not a party to such action.

Former employes who wish to resume their old positions should make application in person immediately, as relations with the unions have been definitely severed.

Applications may be made to any of the following firms:

MAY YOHE HURT IN FALL

Former Actress and Wife of English Lord, Blames Hope Diamond "Jinx"

New York, May 16.—Miss May Yohe, formerly Lassie Francis Hope and one time possessor of the celebrated Hope diamond, was rendered unconscious and is seriously injured as a result of attempting to board a moving train at the Grand Central station here today, according to Herbert L. Comstock, commissioner of the police department.

In the evening circumstances, the police say, Miss Yohe, who is a native of Canada, attempted to board the Hope diamond jinx for the second time. The woman, seeing a friend on the train, attempted to board it. Miss Yohe, in the meantime, had purchased a ticket for Hoboken, N. J. Eighth avenue car. Miss Yohe was taken to the Hotel Belmont, where she resided.

Miss Yohe was shaken up when the train pulled out, but recovered time to get off. She walked to a drug store, where she was treated by Dr. Wright. A taxicab driver who had seen her attempt to board the train took her to the Hotel Belmont.

POLES CAPTURE 3 MORE CITIES

Violent Fighting in Upper Silesia, German Foreign Office Reports

By International News Service.

Berlin, May 16.—Polish insurgents have captured three more cities in Upper Silesia, according to advices received by the German Foreign Office today.

Violent fighting raged all day Sunday in the districts of Rogaita and Gross Strelitz.

Italian plebiscite troops were withdrawn from Nikolai, Pless and Rybnik, but only after Polish forces had pierced the three cities were made, it is declared by the Germans. Six main refugees were returned and 16 German plebiscite police were seized.

In the district of Ratibor the town attacked with field artillery, but were repulsed.

The Italian troops that were withdrawn from Nikolai, Pless and Rybnik have been stationed in Ratibor, it is said.

The latest concentration of troops is causing reinforcements of troops to Upper Silesia.

Priest Leads Attack in Upper Silesia

London, May 16.—A Polish priest, Rev. Father Wojcik, who carried a pistol in one hand and a crucifix in the other, led the Polish insurgents in a successful assault against German entrenchments on the Kandrzin-Rosel line in Upper Silesia, said a Berlin correspondent to the Daily Express today.

Discussing the armistice which had been arranged between Adalbert Korfanty, the Polish Commissioner, and the Inter-Allied Commission, the priest declared the Poles attacked in an effort to occupy positions which controlled the Oder River. It is also responded by the international commissioners to withdraw from the plebiscite area, he said, as the Poles were determined to attack and would not obey him.

The Poles hold three-quarters of Upper Silesia, it is said, including the richest half of industry, and a strong Polish government is now organized to receive.

Quarrel Might Drive U. S. From Allied Council

By International News Service.

Paris, May 16.—There was keen interest in foreign circles today over reports of the break between France and Great Britain over Upper Silesia.

The split would be put upon "that issue."

The hope was expressed that the council of ambassadors would give a special session to Premier Briand this week, which would allow the solidarity of France and Great Britain to be restored. Ambassadors would meet immediately afterward in order to reach a united decision upon the lawful course to be followed in Upper Silesia.

It was pointed out that it is of the utmost importance for the Allies to maintain a united front. It was also emphasized that Germany was anxious to create a deadlock between France and Great Britain, as the interests and views of the two countries would be considered.

It was also said that France would not be guilty of any secret dealings and plan into Germany.

It was asserted, however, that intense satisfaction and relief would be felt in France if a break during the present crisis could be avoided.

Gives Taniac Credit For Splendid Health

T. J. PARKER
4246 Juneau Street, Seattle, Wash.

"I used to think all the Taniac testimonials were exaggerated, but I have felt thankful a thousand times I ever believed in it strong enough to give the medicine a trial," said T. J. Parker, well known salesman for Gately's Clothing Store, residing at 4246 Juneau St., Seattle, Wash.

"Several years ago I commenced having periodic spells of sickness and a few months ago I had an attack that I thought would finish me. When I did finally get up, I was scarcely able to go. I had no appetite and what little I forced myself to eat caused so much gas on my stomach I could hardly get my breath.

"At night I was often so bloated I couldn't breathe while lying down and was had to sit up and struggle for air. At times I had cramps so bad I could hardly endure it.

"My liver was sluggish and sometimes I got so dizzy I would nearly fall. I felt tired and miserable all the time, couldn't even sleep and for days at a time I wasn't able to go to work.

"Well, a friend of mine finally got me to try Taniac, and it certainly has done a good job for me. My appetite is fine now and although I am eating just anything I want and as much as I please, my stomach never gives me the least trouble. I have picked up in weight, my strength has come back to me, and I am now enjoying the best of health.

"All the men at the store know Taniac put me back on my feet, and I am glad to give this statement for what it may be worth to others."

Taniac is distributed by International Proprietaries, Inc., and sold in Boston by all Liggett's drug stores.—Adv.

Fair lands smiled and the tale of plumbing bean started in Simmons girls.

Never in the home of a simmons girl will a plumber's helper drop his kit of tools on the polished top of the mahogany grining, or electrically spoil drops of melted paraffine on the Persian rug.

When the ladyfaire undergo a real she will not reach the dinner with an issue of regret.

She will not send the custom inspector to the engineering a week every time it needs a brush.

ELECTRICIAN LOSES JOB.

And as for calling the electrician for wiring a light socket, she would as soon call a stockmaker to wind the cuckoo clock.

The fact is that one needed in doing little home with a soldering iron and the necessary accessories, the time is not far distant when there will be as few plumbers as an old Egyptian.

She will mend the bath or the kitchen sink in the middle of the week before the plumber can get there. She will put a new washer on the front of a cold water faucet.

And the electricians are trembling in the shoes. Those intricate jobs of wiring a table lamp or a chandelier for the Simmons girl as the by-ways of the Persian. And the electrician's hands in a table socket mean nothing more difficult to her than the playing of Yankee Doodle with one finger on the piano.

"HANDY MAN" NOT NEEDED.

Take it all in all, the "handy man around the house" seems to be on the point of surrendering the palm to the widely trained girl around the house.

This ought to be a vast saving in expense in most homes for the average handy man about the house is about as successful in performing the little odd jobs as his wife admits he is—which is very little, indeed.

All Mothers Will Find Use For This Laxative

Give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to a constipated child and note its quick recovery.

IN a growing family the subject of thought with the parents is how to keep the children healthy and happy, and what to do when they become ill. Most illnesses of childhood are the symptoms of constipation, such as headaches, coated tongues, flatulence, dizziness, loss of appetite and sleep, biliousness, etc.

You can surely feel safe in doing what tens of thousands of others do with good results, so give, according to the age of the child, a small quantity of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Eight million bottles were bought last year at drug stores. It is America's favorite family remedy for constipation, indigestion and similar ills, and is especially suitable for children, women and old folks as it is so mild and gentle in action.

There is no secret about Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant tasting aromatics. Druggists have sold it for thirty years, and a sixty cent bottle will last for months. Experienced mothers are never without it in the house.

TRY IT FREE

Send me your name and address and I will send you a free trial bottle of my Syrup Pepsin. Address me Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 512 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois. Everybody now and then needs a laxative, and it is well to know the best. Write me today.

NEW TEST TO COME SOON

Old Title List Concluded Probably Before Detailed Announcement Is Made

A correspondent in Dorchester wants to know why the new Test Picture shown there cannot be started immediately.

There are many reasons, the principal one perhaps the best being a feeling that one thing at a time is a good rule and that the Title Test should be concluded and the list of successful entries announced before entering upon another entertainment of the same sort.

Another reason is that the Test Picture now being shown is not unlike that of the 1920 Test. The number of awards will be the same, namely 219. Their total value will be $5,000.

If there is no objection, let us speak today the titles of the Test Pictures up to date:

1. Way Down East.
2. Back to the Woods.
3. Silk Hosiery.
4. Boots.
5. It's a Bear.
6. A Man and His Money.
7. The Turn of the Road.
8. Dangerous Business.
9. Beautifully Trimmed.
10. Blackbirds.
11. Sand.
12. The Cheater.
13. Sunset Red.
14. The Death Dance.
15. B. H. Sanford, Me.—The Turn of the Road.

M. M. C.—I might be on the watch if you had thought to give me the name of the picture.

A. E. C., Everett.—Both statements are true. Which is more? Perhaps not much. Let us say that both are true and A stroke.

Roslindale Contestant.—I must find room for many letters composed of Titles, but yours is interesting and I thank you for it.

The Title Test Editor knows by this time that a great many participants in the Test—more than he bargained for—participated in the Picture up to date.

He is inclined to think that a great many of you had perfect scores until the arrival, with Picture No. 15.

Yes, thinking it all over, the writer feels almost certain that [illegible] first trouble came to the great bulk of the party with No. 15. Look it up and see over again. Try a little harder on No. 15 than you have been accustomed to.

As for No. 15, reprinted today, with the street war still fresh in everybody's memory, it must have been an easy matter for all hands to solve the

FREE SPEECH IS UNDER FIRE

Move to Oust Chafee From Harvard for Analysis of Subject Faces Failure

By NORMAN HAPGOOD.
Boston American Staff Correspondent.

Washington, May 16.—What is in some ways the most astounding of all of the recent interferences with free [illegible] is now being advertised. It strikes at a school of thought and at the principles that are supposed to be considered. It involves the repute of the Harvard Law School, which has gained universally in recent years.

Zachariah Chafee, professor in the Harvard Law School, wrote a book entitled "Freedom of Speech." It set forth in expert fashion what were the principles of freedom as they existed before the war mania struck us, and the red mania that was its legitimate offspring.

It then analyzed the acts passed in the years since the Spring of 1917, for the suppression of opinion, and the behavior of the courts juried and appointed to enforce them. Some of the book was praised by critics of the most diverse sorts as a much needed contribution in a period of lethargy and oppression.

Norman Hapgood

FOX HEADS OUSTER MOVE.

Now the stand-patters have organized to oust Professor Chafee of Harvard. The leading part is taken by Mr. Austen Fox, who was supposed to try to keep Mr. Brandeis off the Supreme Court. In that capacity another Mr. Fox, and his friends would have succeeded had it not been for the determination of Senator Borah and others.

These people have raised through not only Professor Chafee's book, but also a despicable article preceding it in the hope of finding an expression here and there that they could twist into "disloyalty." Having such ground for action by private citizens, they started to move [illegible] and have now caused the removal of Professor Chafee from the faculty of the Harvard Law School, and are endeavoring to have him disbarred from practice in the courts of Massachusetts.

FREE OPINION "DEGENERACY."

But for an educated and comfortably situated citizen to speak freely about opinions is a sign of degeneracy. It is considerable evidence that we are betraying all that is best in the American system. It is the very essence of the Constitution. It is the reason why we have been the best of all possible countries.

Because I know him personally and his general position made myself acquainted at once with a few facts in his fortunate case. A professional man, an [illegible] got off a long breezy letter telling us each "You are a [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] in the circumstances it was [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] of the Harvard Board of Overseers that has been lodged both in the objections [illegible] Judge Mack, [illegible] Judge Mack is a [illegible] other two conservatives.

CRUSADES CHANCES DIM.

A group of Harvard graduates not the Harvard Board of Overseers with [illegible] it consists in the main of [illegible] citizens, most of [illegible] had joined [illegible] as far as to reprimand a Harvard professor for believing that the [illegible] Abrams case [illegible] conducted to the trial judge.

Then would come the accident approval of Justice Holmes dissenting opinion that the defendants had [illegible] right to express their ideas as the government has to print the constitution can appealed to in vain. [illegible] would not [illegible] on the opinion of Supreme Court Justice who in many [illegible] looked upon as the ablest thinker of any court in the world today.

Moreover, the board of the Harvard Law School, Roscoe Pound, is a great scholar and an equally great hater of Shaw patriotism and tricky persecution of minority opinion. The prospect, therefore, for a successful outcome of this last and most ridiculous crusade against freedom is happily dim.

WOMEN DEMAND ENDING OF BRITISH COAL STRIKE

London, May 16.—A moving appeal in behalf of children and mothers who are facing starvation as the result of the industrial war, is growing out of the miners' strike was issued today by the standing joint committee of the industrial women's organizations. The manifesto was signed by Margaret Bondfield, chairman of the committee, and it demands a settlement of the coal strike which will give the families of coal miners a reasonable living standard.

MILLIONAIRE SLAYER OF WIFE ENDS TERM

Chicago, May 16.—William C. Ellis, millionaire harness manufacturer of Centralia, has been released from the penitentiary. He was sentenced to [illegible] years in the state of [illegible] in 1911 after he had been convicted of slaying his wife in the Sherman Hotel on October 16, 1912. His sentence was shortened by good behavior. Ellis pleaded emotional insanity when he was tried.

OREGON ASKS COUNTRY TO JOIN IN EXPOSITION

Portland, Ore., May 16.—Directors of Oregon's World's Exposition in 1925 have published official [illegible] to the entire country inviting participation in the event. A resolution has also been introduced in Congress asking authority to issue an invitation to foreign countries.

Motion Picture News

By FRIEDA DAVIS

One of the colorful scenes in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." Rudolph Valentino and Beatrice Dominguez doing the Argentine tango. Valentino was a professional dancer before going into the movies, and Miss Dominguez was a real Spaniard. Their dance is correct in every detail. Inset, Jane Mathis, who wrote a splendid continuity from Ibanez's novel, and Rex Ingram, whose direction is a remarkable achievement.

IT BEGINS to look as if 1921 would stand out in film history as a milestone in the growth of that art. Already one of the strongest of our industries, it has become, in the opinion of many, the greatest. That speaks for itself. Nearly the year has gone, it is the last month before being [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

United States of Brazil

Twenty-Year 8% External Gold Bonds

(Non-Callable

Dated June 1, 1921 Due June 1, 1941

Principal and interest payable in New York City in United States gold coin at the office of Dillon, Read & Co., Fiscal Agents of Brazil in the United States. Interest payable June 1 and December 1. Coupon Bonds of $1000 and $500 denominations, registerable as to principal. Exempt from all Brazilian taxes, present or future.

The Bonds are not callable in whole or in part

As a Sinking Fund, the Brazilian Government agrees to provide a sum sufficient to buy $625,000 principal amount of bonds semi-annually during the life of the loan, which payments will be applied by Dillon, Read & Co. to the purchase of bonds in the market at or below 105 and accrued interest. Any balance unexpended at the end of six months reverts to the Brazilian Government.

Direct Lien on Government Taxes These bonds when issued, will be a direct obligation of the United States of Brazil, and will be specifically secured by a first charge on the Consumption Tax, Consumo and Stamp Tax, Sello which yielded at the average rate of exchange in 1920 approximately $58,963,000 last year and according to present estimates will yield $60,000,000 in 1921, also by a second charge on the government receipts from customs duties. The total receipts from all of the above taxes in 1920 were approximately $127,759,000 on part of which there was a prior charge amounting to $4,055,271. Receipts from the above taxes are pledged by the government to secure a total issue of $50,000,000 of bonds of which the present offering is a part.

Purpose The proceeds of this loan are to be employed in part for the purchase in the United States of materials required by the government.

Debt On December 31, 1920, the national debt of Brazil, both external and internal, converted into dollars at par of exchange, was approximately one billion dollars, of which $363,000,000 was external. A large part of this debt was incurred for the construction of Government Railways, steamships and other revenue-producing undertakings. On the basis of the latest estimate of population, this represents a total indebtedness of about $15 per capita and carries an annual per capita charge of $1.85. This compares with the per capita debt of other nations as follows:

Denmark	$83.65	Canada	$275.08
Switzerland	$92.71	Australia	$324.29
Argentina	$111.90	Great Britain	$827.29
United States	$227.83	France	$1,107.95

The present issue is the first offering of Brazilian Government bonds in the United States, previous Brazilian external loans having been issued in London and Paris.

Natural Wealth The area of Brazil is 3,300,000 square miles, covering nearly half of South America. It is larger than continental United States, the United Kingdom and France combined. Its population of approximately 30,000,000 represents half the total population of the South American continent. Brazil has vast natural wealth and the increasing investment of foreign and local capital is rapidly bringing out the nation's resources. Brazil is said to contain the world's greatest reserves of timber, iron and ore, and has large deposits of other essential minerals. It produces 75% of the world's coffee, and supplies some of the finest grades of rubber which cannot be grown in the East.

Foreign Trade The volume of Brazil's foreign trade has increased rapidly, and the balance in favor of exports increased from $52,000,000 in 1911 to $211,000,000 in 1919. Exports in 1920 were larger in volume than in any previous year, although the total value was less than in 1919 on account of the general fall in commodity prices. The United States is Brazil's best customer, supplying about 48% of her imports and taking about 42% of her exports. Coffee makes up approximately 50% of Brazil's exports at the present time, and of this the United States has been taking about one-half in recent years. The Central European nations are now purchasing coffee in increasing quantity. Other important exports are rubber, cocoa, meat, tobacco and sugar. The largest packing plant in South America has recently been completed in Brazil. Exports of meat, hides and skins increased from $8,075,250 in 1913 to $73,000,000 in 1919.

We offer the above bonds for delivery when, as, and if issued and received by us, subject to the approval of legal proceedings by counsel.

DEMPSEY THINKS HIS TRAINING QUARTERS ARE BEST EVER

EXPECTS TO START HARD TRAINING SOON

By JACK DEMPSEY,
Heavyweight champion of the World.

Atlantic City has proved itself to be the ideal training quarters I have ever had. I never had more ideal training quarters than are mine now.

My conditioning will be done within a stone's throw of the ocean. The whole camp is practically surrounded by water, which means plenty of fresh air and cool breezes all the time. The plot is located within two miles of the boardwalk and hotels, so I'll be as comfortable as I can be.

The pleasure is worth it. There's no substitute for Camel quality and that mild, fragrant Camel blend.

The fellow who smokes Camels, wants Camels. That's because Camels have a smoothness, a fragrance and a mildness you can't get in another cigarette.

Don't let anyone tell you that any other cigarette at any price is so good as Camels.

Let your own taste be the judge. Try Camels for yourself. A few smooth, refreshing puffs and you'd walk a mile for a Camel, too.

36-Hole Contest Creates Considerable Interest—Field Is Out Early

Frank Hoyt, formerly of Wollaston and Belvoir, was defeated by Oswald Kirkby, seven and five, in the final round of the invitation tourney at Forest City. It's a cinch "Ozzie" didn't have a wager on that match, for Oswald is the metropolitan champion.

There are 223 entries for the British amateur championship. Twelve are Americans, but British golfers agree one chance is better than a twenty to one shot. They place the figure at two to one.

The tourney on the Brookline links is over month. What do you think of it? Was it a success? Let us know. Address letters to Golf Editor, Boston American. They have told us they like it, several others better than Miss Shirley.

Sunday was the first golfing day of the season, and courses in Massachusetts were crowded.

A newspaper in San Francisco says that 20,000 play golf in Southern California. The remainder of the population will learn to play within a few years.

Bees Nearly Break Up Ball Game

Friends of Clarence Twombley, who had a day all set for him Saturday, seem to perpetrate the same this afternoon. So far as we know, that's the only "day" on the books for the week.

Pat Moran and his Cincinnati Reds follow the clubs into town and engage the Braves in four games, winding up the week here. As the champs have been hitting their home runs with regularity, the Braves expect a big welcome over their entrance. The Heaters are recovered from the slump of last week, and the recovery is pleasing to their baseball.

Moran has a couple of new regulars to show the universe, as he was forced to erase Groh's and Duncan's name when Heinie Groh held out, and meant it. The sub has been playing good ball, according to all reports, but of course, he isn't Heinie. There are very few as good as the self-proclaimed star.

Motion picture actresses become popular because their faces are seen all over the country on the screens. We ought to give the beauty girls a chance to become famous by having their photos sent all over the world on money.

A girl getting her photo on money would be the same as one getting in the movies. She'd strive on a nickel and work her way up to a dollar.

A fifty-dollar greenback makes a good frame for any girl's photograph.

It might be a good idea to have your wife's portrait on your green backs, and then there wouldn't be any argument about money talking.

Yoicd soon find that the men would long on to their money longer.

A hundred-dollar picture should be on the cent.

If a guy could have his sweetheart's photograph printed on five-dollar bills he'd save his money. He'd be careful where he spent it.

He's going to think twice before he breaks his girl's face.

"LET'S GO, LATZO"

The Atlantic City Post of the American Legion is to present Georges Carpentier with the left hind foot of a rabbit as a token of good luck. The excellent gift if there appears to be a kick left in it.

Going was moving pretty fast when he covered two miles on a grassy track in nine minutes and twenty-nine seconds. Penn State states so.

A new Harvard-Yale high jump record might have been achieved did Lender not land on the bar. It was at six feet five inches, and by the barest margin did the Yale and Olympic star fail in his attempt.

Tommy Campbell put the reverse English on "The Campbells Are Coming." Tommy Campbell was going in the Harvard-Yale meet—going like the guy said they were. Ask Dennie, he won't deny it.

"Don't worry about your tears," said the Atlantic City Post to Georges Carpentier. "I don't want your tears, but your left hind foot. I'll have the latter made into a watch charm and the former dumped into the sea."

Captain Charles Pierce of New York, who will serve as timer in the approaching Dempsey-Carpentier battle, says it will probably be a twenty-three seconds affair. Pierce is neutral. He has sent for some Swiss stop-watches to do the job.

Congressman Walsh Errs on Farmers' Organization

In opposing the law to permit the American farmers to organize for the protection of prices against middlemen speculation Congressman Walsh of Massachusetts asks this question:

I wonder what the waiting world would have said if the association of steel producers or the lumbermen's association had issued a notice that they wished their members to refrain from selling steel and lumber, or any of the other commodities so necessary to our commercial life, until the prices were raised $5 or more above those prevailing at the time.

This is another chapter in the special legislation creating a privilege class and enlarging the privileges heretofore granted to those engaged in producing agricultural products to create a monopoly for their own goods and it will set them aside from the operation of the general laws that apply to others entering into our commercial life and activities.

The difficulty with Mr. Walsh's question is that it assumes that the steel and lumber and other interests do not combine because they have not asked the law-making body to permit them to combine. The fact is that they combine in spite of the law which prohibits them from combining. Their economic situation enables them to combine under circumstances rather difficult to prove, and their economic and political power enables them to paralyze the will of the government to prosecute them for their combining, and when the government's will is too strong to be paralyzed, the combination nearly always succeeds in paralyzing the arm of the government.

Moreover, the farmers ask for the right to combine in order to protect them in a way which is not going to be injurious to the public, but rather, if it works out the way the farmers promise, it will be beneficial to the public.

What we seek in our law-making is not theoretical perfection, but practical advantage. And it often happens in the rough and ready scheme of our affairs that what is sauce for the goose is not sauce for the gander. What is good law for one interest may not be good law for all interests.

The farmers today are the under-dogs, and the law should protect them to the po it where their protection becomes unfair to the interest of the greater number. Our agricultural interests constitute a majority of the nation. No one gets rich farming; nor can farmers become a privileged class dangerous to democracy. Indeed the tillers of the soil are the very foundation of liberal institutions and no free country has ever survived their disintegration.

A bold peasantry—their country's pride—
When once destroyed can never be supplied.

Academy for the Training of U. S. Diplomats

At the National Convention of the National Foreign Trade Council held at Cleveland, an interesting suggestion was made. It was proposed that the government should establish an academy for the training of diplomats, which should have an importance equal to the naval and military academies at Annapolis and West Point.

Those who urged the establishment of the academy reported "The Government Foreign Service requires special training and capacity in its experts to render them valuable men. In order to meet these requirements, there should be established a government training academy which would rank with West Point and Annapolis, to be devoted exclusively to the preparation and education of men in the government service."

This seems on the face of it to be an excellent idea. Our consular service has for years been the means of rewarding small politicians who take the offices primarily not as opportunities to serve the country in foreign lands, but as payment of past services in politics. It is not that these men who fill our consular offices are stupid, but that they don't expect the positions to last longer than the administration of which they are a part. Their jobs are wholly political jobs and they no sooner learn the ropes than they go out of office with their party.

We have become a great creditor nation. Our industries have reached a development which requires more than our home market to maintain them. We must go out into the world and capture trade if we are to maintain our industrial development. Trade in foreign lands has been made by Great Britain and Germany a scientific commercial warfare, in which the government plays the most important part, and plays it largely through the consular agents. If we expect to compete with Great Britain and with Germany and Japan in the markets of the world, we must aid our foreign commerce as the foreign commerce of our rivals is aided by their governments. We must have as they have, men trained for the consular service, and we must make their positions secure to them during efficient behavior.

Nothing will develop such a spirit of service as special education under the government for the service and the knowledge that it is to be secure so long as the work is patriotically and efficiently performed.

Big Success of Freight Lines Operated by Government

Colonel G. E. Humphrey, who has been in charge of the government-owned and operated barge lines on the Mississippi and Warrior rivers, with headquarters in St. Louis, has just made a report for the month of April concerning the financial results of the operation of these transportation lines. He shows that they have earned a profit of more than $50,000 for April.

The lines handled almost 35,000 tons of miscellaneous freight in that same month. These government lines have been remarkable not only for the volume of business handled but for the cost of operation. For example, the increase of business in April over February amounted to almost 12,000 tons. This is the equivalent of 1,738 freight cars. The government allowed $25,000 to be charged off for depreciation, which we understand is a larger amount than usual, and indicates how careful is the financing of the lines by the government.

We suppose that the great increase in the volume of business done by these government lines is due to the increase of freight rates which the private operation of the railroads has caused. In stead of sending freight by the privately operated railroads people are sending their freight by the government operated water lines where freight charges will not be obliged to pay for watered stock and for private yachts and fleets of automobiles and huge private estates of the banker controllers of the privately operated railroads.

AT THE CROSS ROADS OF LIFE

Nellie Bly Writes About the Time That Comes to Everyone When He Must Make Choice That Will Decide Whole Future.

By Nellie Bly

THERE comes a time to every one in the world when one stands at the crossroads, hesitating and undecided.

The road one has traveled cannot be retraced. It matters not whether it was a road of pleasure or a road of sorrow, a road of success or a road of failure. It matters not whether it was a road we would retravel or a road we dare not look back upon. It is the road behind us, and no human being has the power to walk again that road once traveled.

To say it is a long lane that has no turn is but another way of indicating that death is the most certain thing in life. But the cross roads—the point where every human being will pause and hesitate undecided which way to go.

When Hope Grows Faint

Hope, the one motive which makes life endurable, grows weak and faint with indecision at life's cross roads. One way, it whispers, might lead to happiness and success, but doubt in the sign post where life's road branches, and all the sign it gives is a question mark.

The wisest while hesitating at the crossroads, appeal for advice to other passersby. Happy are they when this advice comes from a well-experienced traveller, who has not only surmounted the difficulties on that part of the road, but has foresight and knowledge sufficient to indicate the condition of the road ahead, can advise what is to be avoided and tell how one must travel to make the best of the day and to find safe shelter in storms and at night.

From a far-away farm in Minnesota comes the voice of a woman. She is standing at the crossroads. She is undecided which way to travel. Like all the rest of us, failure to hope she knows what she would like to do, but she does not know which road will lead to the destination of her preference.

And all the way from that lonely farm in Minnesota her voice calls out to the citizens of the big cities for advice. She questions her fellow men and women for counsel, for suggestions. She is not afraid nor does she hesitate to speak out and voice her opinion. She is standing at the crossroads.

Read her letter, so filled with life and human interests, ambitions of a sensitive and refined soul, and tell her what you think is the road that will lead her to her goal.

On a farm in Minnesota,
April 20, 1921.

Dear Miss Bly: When a girl one of my most cherished possessions was a large cardboard game called Around the World with Nellie Bly. I never knew then I have read everything I can about you and all of your writings I could find. I enjoyed them so much for their clear and practical common sense as well as for their other good qualities.

To say I read is one of your articles once recently that ran years one of the many contributors scattered along. They seemed to point out the way for those in trouble, and ever since then I have felt an unconscious desire to write you to see if you could help me.

"First I shall have to tell you something of my life so that you will understand. During the years following my marriage we were financially situated. In a business collapse I lost every thing except about four thousand dollars, and it is secured by this farm. The outcome ending of Minnesota.

We are trying to make it a home for our old age, and we have other dreams for it.

My husband and I are unusually attached to one another. We are close to the soil.

With us all failure is such a failure. Failure in life, failure to die with honor and not failure branded with me. We have been so unfortunate in not having any children and that is our great sorrow.

Now that there will be no more to carry on the name, no one needed to make this farm pay as much as we do, and I am confident that then leave it as a permanent place bearing our names and late to spend our declining years, especially for the young people and students, to give them a home for wholesome recreation and study.

Oh, how we have dreamed and planned! The farm has all the natural beauty of location for a thing of beauty. There are lakes, fat oak and pine groves and picturesque, unspoiled scenery. Every winter we thought we would spend a month or more in some warm climate and every summer we would go to some mountain resort. But we never did.

On top of that we planned to build a home of concrete, fireproof and modern in every way. From that there will be a glorious view down to the river winding as far as the eye can see. Here in beautiful Winter nothing could be too good.

We have our house all planned with one large room, two bedrooms, and a smaller dressing room, and a corridor to be given over to young people for their parties and for music practice. We plan on good music for them, good books and beautiful surroundings.

Boys Have No Purpose

"And oh, Miss Bly, it is all so sadly needed. I believe it is true just as I have lately read, that moral conditions are worse among the young in rural communities than in the cities. There they have no recreation, but the public dance hall. Bootlegging goes on freely, and the girls dance with half drunken partners, and no one seems to think anything of it until a boy or girl goes wrong.

"And the boys seem to have no purpose, no aim in life. They are just drifting. Several are spoken of as high-spirited, some as 'pretty fast' and a very few as good.

"Then you know, Miss Bly, in this whole community there is not one bathroom, not one fireplace, not one house that could be called handsome. No good music and no reading. Their idea of music is 'The Preacher and the Bear,' or 'Whistling Rufus,' and not a single good phonograph or musical instrument. Just a few cheap wax cylinder phonographs and jazz music.

Justice to the Veteran

By Joseph G. O'Malley.

As each decrepit boss is lead
And whispers praise for heroes dead
Who willingly their young blood shed,
And for their country's sake
Such reverence and love we feel
For those brave boys whose deaths reveal
Great souls that shrank from no ordeal.
We think of them with pride.

Our flag of red and white and blue,
Unsullied all those ages through,
Ne'er fluttered over nobler, more true.
Her stars never shone more bright.
As bravely dying she was living.
The value of battle to save,
To see grim death her soldiers scorn
And give their lives for right.

They gave their all and now they rest.
While grateful hearts lose in each breast.
For well they've measured to the test.
Where'er they were cast.
Your measure shall be larger.
But all our lives can render to you
Is not one beat too much for the debt
Of honor to our dead.

The space remains none to be said.
Two millions others unafraid.
Came forth like men to fight and aid.
Their country in her need.
With those now dead, across the wave.
They sailed their strength and courage gave.
Humanity's fair name to save
And weaker nations freed.

And some were battle maimed for life.
A leg, an arm, or eye or sight.
They feel not there where scars were rife
Or Flanders mud's fetid
Some more were gassed while others still
With dread disease were stricken ill
Now invalid and imbecile
Remain for us to shield.

To us it doesn't matter where
If U. S. A. or over there.
Whichever soldier did his share
We're proud to grasp his hand
To whom we owe our lives been killed.
Or sick or wounded. So God willed.
He took that chance his bosom filled
With love of native land.

Then ought we to consider well.
He saved us from that living hell.
Which those who went across can tell
Invaders make a land
Through him all other nations see
That we will fight unflinchingly
To keep our country safe and free
From every hostile hand.

Now that the World War has been won
Let us think now what he's done.
What people are there 'neath the sun
Whose soldier's so sincere?
Are if our allies find that they
With far less wealth than we, can pay
Their soldiers honus, who can say
We should not pay ours too?

SCHURMAN SHOULD NOT BE SENT TO CHINA

By Guy M. Walker.

A MORE flagrant insult could hardly be offered to the government of the Chinese Republic at Peking than the proposed appointment of Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, former president of Cornell University, as minister from the United States to the Chinese Republic.

It is hard to believe that President Harding and secretary of State Hughes can be in earnest or Dr. Schurman's pro-Japanese sympathies is indicated by this proposed appointment. Dr. Schurman was next to Secretary Root the most prominent member of that fatuous party that made a pilgrimage to Japan and back just a year ago at the expense of the Japanese government and which returned after fourteen days in Japan to inform the American people of the profound impression which existed for peace in Japanese statesmen in China, Manchuria, Mongolia and Siberia.

Guest of Baron

The Boston Advertiser of May 14 says:

"Members of the Yamamoto party became unmeasurably entertained in the home of the Baroness Sakatani in Tokyo on Thursday afternoon, when Miss Ella Reeve Bloor, who would-be suffragette president at Cornell University and Mrs. Jacob Gould Schurman, wife of Baron Hugo. Now home in Japan can match this affair as it is with treasures many centuries old and with the most beautiful gardens in the world. Guests have been entertained at every function of the Imperial Household.

"A good number were arranged around the tea table in the garden for Dr. and Mrs. Schurman as was also the seventeen assembled in the reception, drifting and wandering about."

Not to Be Expected

Surely the Harding administration must not intend to send Dr. Schurman to China to further the pro-Japanese policy of Secretary Hughes. One could as well expect that Dr. Schurman would be prepared to support American interests in China as that Mr. Hughes is now granting in the mandates islands out of abutting of its power on the Asiatic coast, both of Siberia, or in Manchuria or Mongolia. Not even in Korea, which he has already annexed, has Japan been pursuing with the highest and most unfounded effects to Japan and against which Korea has been protesting and suffering for nineteen years.

According to American Dr. Schurman aided with Mr. Vanderlip and Mr. Hall in the disparagement of the Chinese and the glorification of the Japanese. Such views from Americans in China are not those of the American government in Peking.

HOW TO LIFT YOURSELF ABOVE LUCK

By Dr. Charles Fleischer.

WE are born gamblers, most of us, and we appear to believe the gods are gambling with us mortals. So we think ourselves the darlings of luck or the victims of misfortune.

Luck represents for most of us a mysterious, irresistible web and net of fate in which we are held powerless. Such is our survival of our native awe of our selves and of the universe of our relation to one another, and of our connection with the universe itself.

The belief in luck, good or bad, is one of the most mischievous of superstitions which we have to be brought with it out of the less enlightened past.

If you want to be a good and rational democrat you cannot afford to believe yourself helpless in the hands of the fates, whether bad or good.

Even the most sensible person is apt to indulge in the vice sometimes. The most overtly barefaced habit of attributing to the gods of chance as though the girl nodded to you because you had a new hat which men admire and may be won to revive us.

It is not to be known to be quite so foolish to indulge in the more subtle forms of the vice. The inwardly barefaced habit of attributing to the gods of chance as though the girl nodded to you because you had a new hat which men admire and may be won to revive us.

Superstition Degrades

Any superstition even playfully entertained tends to degrade. The belief in luck may rob one of initiative, weaken one's courage, lessen one's self-reliance, make one more ready to look for help from without than from within, and even more ready to look for help from without than from within, and even more ready to look for help from without than from within, and even
